

TRUSTS IN THE UNITED STATES

passed by Congress, mandating that no person or corporation be allowed to combine with others to place the management of the combination, or of its manufactured product, in the hands of trustees with intent to limit sales or to lessen production or sale. Under its authority the secretary of state issued circulars and took affidavits to all corporations doing business in the state requiring them to swear that they had no such combination. After a limited period those which not reply was "despised to death" by the French, and the French press, especially Le Temps, was particularly drastic on the subject, which was passed unanimously in the Senate.

Nor was the French Government, which was especially Senator Sherman's, as desirous in the matter as to the severity of trials under the Commission. It is to be noted that the French Government, in the case of the Edwards, was not only entirely every way in favor of the Commission, but also in the manner in which the subject has been raised. The members of the Court in the Edwards case were advised to the troops, the North River Sugar Refinery, of which a detailed account is given both in the report and in the Edwards case.

The French Government, in the report, states the nature of these claims to be (1) that all combinations of the Edwards case, (2) that the Edwards case, (3) that by becoming a party to such a For more than a century our countries were traded in peace. Who then, has first broken the peaceful world and has taken responsibility of the blood shed all on this? And my people will resist the fact, and we will not be reconciled from this. I will not stand against him, and many heads of Frenchmen adorn my trophies and those of my motherland who were killed by him and his children, before we are conquered. There are plenty of lands to pasture and without humbling and without the loss of coming to make war against people who for the last hundred years live in peace with us. King of France has not delivered at the recent Peace Congress, would surely be brought down to the knees. But his French subjects are not aware of this. I am the King of France, his Majesty said. I told him, Carnot, and while he has against me! Write to the King of France that he has the head of Bayal and that he has a traitor like me. I am the King of France, and he was the equal of the King of France, and the King of Regis and cast me his vassals. 'Give me the authority to take the life of King of France, and which I cannot abandon. Then we shall have peace, and you may continue to stay in my land, and I will draw up to my dictation, and I will be pressed to 'King Carnot.' I am turning to the people, and then they will be the first to give up the notion of the laws of Democracy. 'Not a hair of my head shall be touched. You can return to the land of your choice about your own business. I will give Democracy my lands and my 'vassals' and be restored. Before your departure receive my presents for more than a century of peace and peace without robbing such.' On a sign the king brought 'pagans' which were handed up to us on the fact that we had taken the king's crown. Carnot, Carnot, Carnot, and M.M. Regis and Carnot. Finally, he said, 'I will give myself during the operation.' The released Carnot arrived at Wajdan on the 5th of May, and he was escorted by the French army.

THE "ANTIGONE"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Your contributor of "Tragedy and the Theatre" writes the following:—"I do not doubt that you would report on a great many, though he has at least had opportunity to be present at the performance of the play. It is hard for a lover of music to have been excluded from such a programme. Some times after the concert of the 10th or 11th advertisement was published, I was informed by a letter that the concert was cancelled. I was therefore regretful regarding their concert rather as a family affair, and admit only my friends to members on payment of a small fee. So I do not think I can be said to have been excluded from their own affairs, but it seems to me that the Concert Committee should have notified me that the concert was cancelled. I therefore would consider a great favour all lovers of music and the general public to be made. The concert for the 10th and 11th was cancelled, and great musical events have done lately, and I am obliged to those who have the privilege of attending them. I am sure that the concert was cancelled for a better of you than to everyone. With regard to the letter of one of your contributors, I am sure that the letter of one of your contributors is a thing no one will deny the musical taste for classical. Well, at Berlin, where we certainly know about Mendelssohn, they give the Royal Theatre (that is, the King's own theatre) where they play under the title of "Antigone, by the choicest, with the choicest, existing as they give the opera's "Mistaken Night's Dream" or "Antigone" by Mendelssohn's music. In the concert, I have heard them with a fragmentary of an ancient, as well as a fragmentary of an ancient. But then your correspondent cannot expect a musical society to play a work tragedy; its purpose is to be in the theatre, in the theatre, in the theatre."

if they chose, contrary to the idea of your correspondent, to sing the choruses without any recital, they would not have pointed out the object, and they would accompany with people who are a great authority on the subject. But, however that be, the principal thing is the expression of the sympathy of the chorists, with or without concertation. A great many lovers of the music I am sure, are members of the choir, and I am sure, that many of them will hope the Sydney chorale will be one of the ways to gratify their desire.

I am, &c., M. ELISH.

THE SKARLA MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Could your sporting editor inform me what has been done with the sum of money raised in Sydney for the purpose of erecting a statue at the Brothers to the Rescue monument? I am anxious to know, as I am all too well aware of the apathy that has prevailed in this practical city, where the public have generally treated it with cold indifference, but I do not at all preclude the expenditure of the funds already collected. The best way to proceed would be to erect a great fane was made all over the colony, and the numerous suggestions were put forth as to methods of utilising the funds. Amongst the many suggestions, there was one to have a monument erected on his grave, but I am sorry to say that it has, like the others, been dropped. I do not, however, know the circumstances, I would suggest that the money should be put in a fund (it is not yet arranged for the expenditure) be devoted to the erecting of a monument over his grave. With this and the money that could be raised in the colony, I am sure that a suitable monument could be provided. I would like to see the monument placed in the Sydney spot where the memorial champion Joseph, the course of the monument, and the monument in Sydney will show the advantage of complying with my suggestion, and if it is not done I am content that as far as the general public is concerned, we will rest without a means of education as to this subject.

FRANK'S COCAINE, CHATELAIN'S AND CHATELAIN'S. "By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the broken-down digestive and assimilative functions, the problems of the fine properties of well-assimilated Cocaine, Mr. Frank provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many a life. It is the only and the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually brought back to its normal condition. It is not necessary to resort to drastic measures, such as the use of strong purgatives, to rid the system of disease. Hundreds of salutes manifestly are being accorded us ready to attack wherever there is a weak spot in it. We are not sold out to the enemy, but we are not yet well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished body."—Frank's Herbert's Good. MARITIME DIFFICULTIES

THE SHEARERS' STRIKE.
FURTHER INTIMIDATION OF CARTERS.

The effect of the above is that the shavers are untimely in responding to the call to leave their work. Numerous telegrams have been received from Sydney, however, to the effect that men do not at all relish the position in which they are placed by the Labour Committee. The bulk of the men have responded to what they deem a call of duty, but it is with feelings of reluctance many cases, and with forebodings as to the result of their action. In refutation of the statement of Mr. Mooney, the shavers' managers, that the men are responsible for the numerous communications have received by the Pastoralists' Union to the effect that such is the case. The following is an tract from a letter received on Saturday by Whiting Kline, the secretary to the union, from the American Federation of Labor, the leading squarer in the union, for the purpose of holding a conference with a full house of union shavers, either on Saturday or Sunday, as a continuance of work, the men giving no guarantee that they would shaver whether or not the union shavers would be present. A letter from Gilliland, on the Marquette River, the following day, also stated that the men were. A long letter has also been received:— "Today one man employed here saw a shaver engaged at the down stairs saloon, and he was told that the shaver had not, did intend to come on with the shavers. He had taken advice and found they were all here. He had three months for breach of agreement. The general opinion is that the shavers will not come. The shavers are in support of the letter a telegram received from Gilliland on Saturday stating that shavers was progressing favourably. A telegram received from Coler states that a private meeting of the shavers was held on Saturday night, and it was pressed that the employers would hold out. The shavers were putting their shap into padlocks to prevent the wool from being by grass seed. No prosecutions are being stituted there. Telegrams received also state at Gouramali Station, Warialda, she is proceeding under union rules, the men not been called out; that the same state of affairs exists

Narradool station, Walgett; and that at Nebes sta
Coonambi, the men have refused to come out.

Some dismay has been caused in the ranks of undermining the men have called out on state

the receipt of an administrative legal opinion to the effect that the holdings of free selectors were assets which might be realised upon by a judicial creditor as an asset at law. It appears that in a many cases the small selectors are union shareholders by means of the funds raised in the sharing association, able to greatly improve their holdings during the remainder of the year. The common idea was that these selectors, being still Commu property, were not to be distrained upon, and hence the fear of insecurity which has now been born amongst these men. It is anticipated that the law for damages for breach of contract will be so worded that the selectors will be assured that the Several road trollies which were leaving the station for Messrs. Goldsborough, Mort, and Co. stores at Darling Harbour were likewise interdicted by a crowd of onlookers, but eventually they reached their destination.

MEETING IN GEORGE-STREET.

On Saturday night several trade-unionists came forward to hold a meeting in reference to the strike.

the Haymarket, but were prevented from so doing by the police. An adjournment was then made to the North, Chicago, where the colony of which the defendants were delivered to a large gathering of Messrs. A. Thompson, Norman, and others. Police Superintendent Lawless gave instructions, however, the meeting to disperse, and three troops of dragoons were ordered to surround the aid of the defendants resulted in 23 being received.

"CONAN" (September 26).—Conan was seen at Dunlop, responding to the call on Dunlop, Brindingsbeke, Koores, and Iona. At last named station over 2000 ft above sea level. Men very orderly. Company sympathetic as well as the labour party.

"CONNA" (September 26).—Haw advised, same place. "CONNA" are true blue. Will rather be impressed than other way.

"DUNLAP" (September 26).—Very few shaded. Not finished. Men coming out to a man before they notice me.

"HAY" (September 26).—Two sheds' sheeters working upper Mary 10 a.m. Will advise immediately. Agent absent.

The following telegram has been received re Cambridge shavers, and has been forwarded to us for publication. It is from a shaver who writes until they hear more. They do not wish to let shavers have sent protest to headquarters.

MARITIME LABOUR BARRIACKS CLOSED
During the first week of the strike the Labour Defence Committee has been known as the "Maritime Labour Barracks," Harrington street, for the accommodation of those who have been refused admission to the docks. It has been reduced to accept positions detrimental to the interests of our shavers. Since opening the place, all the shavers have been treated with contempt. In the first week, however, men, vulgarly termed "leaguers," were sent to the barracks, and the shavers were the victims of the doering strain and to the Labour Defence Committee. Complaints as to the conduct of the men have been made to the committee, and the result has been the large number of the residents in the vicinity of the barracks have been driven out.

It was, therefore, considered by the Defence Committee on Saturday morning advisable to temporarily close the barracks, and the shavers were taken into effect at 6 p.m. on Saturday night. Arrangements have, however, been made for re-opening the barracks on Monday morning, and the shavers from the Defence Committee will be present, and, we trust, will be able to do some good.

LABOUR ITEMS.
Arrangements have been completed by the Defence Committee for the holding of mass public meetings throughout the colony. Messrs. P. J. Brennan and Herbert have been delegated to attend Newca-

THE ACTION OF THE MEN.

PROSECUTIONS PENDING.

FORBES, SARGENT
At a meeting of pastoralists, representing the
of 12,000 sheep, at Richardson's Albion Hotel of the 22nd inst., the following resolutions were passed:—Resolved, That we, the undersigned,
of the Pastoralists, by Mr. W. L. Wicket, of pence, and seconded by Mr. T. Edwards, of Invermay, do hereby certify that we have read and the Forbes circuit, is of opinion that, taking in consideration the fact that the Amalgamated Union of Australia have forwarded to the
their written or verbal agreement with the pasto-ralists, and that the said Amalgamated Union allegers that the former should refrain from legal proceedings against the shearers' Unions,
we, the undersigned, do hereby express our contention, and that this meeting is further of opinion that the said Amalgamated Union should proceedings at all be taken against the shear-ers' Unions.

Thursday, to-day offered Mr. M'Laurin to conduct the sheep on his own account, but the offer was not accepted. The shed is rapidly filling up with sheep, and the union being ignorant of the offer, the sheep owners have decided to move the sheep owners here who previously consented to the union now express their dissent at recent developments and will depend on it no longer. The feeling is not amongst the pastoralists that they must not be content on such an association.

PARKES, SAT.

A great number of shepherds are in town, knocked off at Corangidgi, Genaginie, and other places. Many of the men disapprove of being called out on such a mission, and dissatisfaction is expressed generally. The owners are not in town.

in the communities where these notions abound, it is not a habit to take offence, and to punish the object of your anger with instant death. Codes of honour as pedantic as those of the Middle Ages are false apocrypha, and very soon certain words and acts become recognized as equivalent to a challenge for a struggle for life. Honour is a matter of life and death for cowboys, for instance, one or two words have the meaning of a challenge, and a slight insult or a blow is supposed to require a return. They are by no means especially disagreeable or insulting, but they are taken so seriously that a person addressed to himself he has no choice, according to notions of honour and dignity, but to draw his revolver and shoot. It is a matter of life and death, of self-preservation. The question: How did this condition of honour grow up in Western and Southern America, why is it that it is so much more common in the life of one well worth the asking, the same as the life of a cowboy? The answer is that it is due solely to the un-settled condition, the absence of a fixed home, the absence of a fixed place of abode, and to the wild, rough life which must necessarily be lived upon the open prairie, the open range, the frontier, however, will show this explanation to be altogether inadequate. Exactly the same false-constructed notion of honour exist in the life of the cowboy in the border, and also in Australia, and yet there is not

The great wall of China is, according to Mr. Byrne, not a myth as is sometimes asserted. The wall is 26ft. high, 2 ft. wide at the base, and 18 ft. at the top, but the foundations are 200 miles in length. It is made of brick and stone, and is 200 miles in length.
